Pearl River awards walking trail funds

BY DENA BISNETTE

Pearl River Basin Development District has provided $11,160 in funds for the walking trail at Hancock Medical Center.

County Recreation Director Hilda Bourg said she received notice of the funding on Friday and plans to announce the award at Tuesday's board of supervisors meeting.

The walking trail has been in planning stages since June, but "it has been out of our reach until now," Bourg stated. She explained that the delay was due to unexpectedly large costs for subsurface drainage.

Construction of the asphalt-paved facility is expected to begin shortly after the area is resurveyed by County Engineer Larry Seal.

The trail will be located in front of Hancock Medical Center but will be open to the public. Warm-up equipment at the site will be built through donations. The facility will also be lighted for night use and will be accessible by the handicapped.

Bourg stated that the walking trail was one of the initial projects she chose to work on after the recreation department was created by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors last year.

The project is patterned after two existing tracks in d'Iberville and Gulfport.

Under Pearl River's funding program, construction must be completed by June 1 of this year.

Personal care home set for March 1 opening

BY DENA BISNETTE

After being out of use since March 1987, the old Hancock Medical Center building will reopen as a personal care home for the elderly March 1.

Roger E. Jacobson, president of Southern Health Enterprises, and partner Douglas Wright said the new facility will be known as the Bay St. Louis Regional Care Center.

Southern Health Enterprises already operates similar facilities in Mississippi and Alabama and chose to move into the Gulf Coast area because there is an identified need for intermediate and skilled nursing care beds, Wright said.

There is room for 60 residents in the facility and until its office opens, applications may be left at the WIC Distribution Center, which is located in the former classroom building behind the old hospital and can be reached at 467-1086.

An intermediate care home is designed for people who are basically self-sufficient but need some assistance, particularly with medications.

Jacobson said most residents will have private rooms. There are, however, a few double rooms available for married couples.

He added that the final interviews for the manager's position were conducted on Thursday and that all four candidates for the job are Bay St. Louis residents. The final selection is to be announced early this week.

Southern Health Enterprises, based in Manitowoc, Wis., is paying the county $440,000 for the structure, appraised several years ago at $500,000 but vandalized prior to the sale, and has made a $250,000 in improvements.

Using entirely local contractors, the entire building has been reroofed with proper drainage and the interior is being redone. In addition to the cosmetic improvements being made, rewiring is in progress, Wright said.

Jacobson said state inspectors have already looked at the building and will be back for the final inspection prior to the opening.

On Thursday, members of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors toured the building and accepted one of the payments on it.

Jacobson said that, with the full support of the supervisors, his firm is still trying to obtain a certificate of need from the Mississippi Legislature for an additional facility, a 60-bed skilled nursing home, that Southern Health Enterprises officials are hoping to build adjacent to the personal care home.

OPTIMISTIC SAILOR—Mallory Mestayer of Bay St. Louis practices her sailing technique at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club last week in preparation for the South American Championship Optimist competition. Mestayer to sail in Peru

BY JANET MCQUEEN

Bay St. Louis resident Mallory Mestayer will leave Thursday for Peru to compete in the South American Championship in Optimist competition.

The daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Mestayer, she is one of only three girls chosen to compete in the field of 95 contestants from all over the world.

Ten children were chosen to represent the United States following the U. S. Mid-Winter Championships held in New Orleans in November.

The eight-foot single-handed boats used in competition are sailed by children aged 8-15. The United States Optimist Dingy Association has been in existence for 20 years, and a program was introduced at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club five years ago by Dr. Mestayer.

Mallory, an eighth grade student at Our Lady Academy, has competed for the last three years, accumulating an impressive list of honors along the way.

She has competed in the Nationals in Annapolis three times; the North American Championship in Quebec, Canada; the Long Island Sound Championship, Shelter Island, N. Y.; Larchmont N. Y. and Darien, Conn.; the Orange Bowl Regatta in Miami, Fla. and numerous regattas in New Orleans, St. Petersburg, Fla. and the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

This summer she will travel to the Nationals in Newport, R. I., the North American Championship in Marblehead, Mass. and the Long Island Sound Championship at the New York Yacht Club.

Mallory will travel to La Punta, Callao, Peru accompanied by her father and a nine-year-old brother, Richard.

She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Mestayer of Waveland and the late Dick Mestayer Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Russell O. Davis of Jackson.

The 13-year-old is "very excited about seeing the country," and meeting other children who share the same interests. She has sailed with the two other girls who will compete in the Peru race. Both reside in Miami.

This race brings more distinction to the junior sailing program at the BWYC, who are "making waves" in area competition on the junior level.

Crimestoppers reward for crime information

BY D.C. HARVILL

The adage "crime doesn't pay" may be true if you are a criminal and get caught but if you have information that solves a crime, it could earn you up to $1,000.

The group Crimestoppers offers cash rewards to people who provide tips that lead to the arrest and indictment of felony crime offenders or the capture of felony fugitives.

The Coast chapter of Crimestoppers accepts anonymous tips over a toll-free number and then relays the information to the appropriate law enforcement agencies. The callers are given secret code numbers to be used during future transactions.

This week Crimestoppers paid an informant $200 for information which was passed on to the Narcotics Task Force in Harrison County. Because of this information, an arrest and seizure of drugs was made. The amount of payment was based on the quality and quantity of information, according to Greg Payne, law enforcement coordinator for the Coast group.

Nation-wide, Crimestoppers has helped solve 81,700 cases involving $450 million in property. Ninety-seven percent of Crimestoppers' cases have resulted in convictions. Since its inception, the Coast group has paid out $3,000.

Even with the added incentive of cash, Coast Crimestoppers has not received as much participation from the public as it would like.

The lack of participation is partially attributed to people not wanting to contact police officers. The group, however, is an independent organization manned by a volunteer staff.

Each enforcement agency on the Coast does have a coordinator for their interaction with the group. The coordinators in Hancock County are Gloria Tartavouille, Hancock County Sheriff's Office; Chuck James, Bay St. Louis Police Department; and Officer Dave Stepro, Waveland Police Department.

If anyone has information about a crime and does not want to contact the police, they can contact Crimestoppers at 1-800-433-TIPS. It could pay.

Individuals, businesses adopt Pass High School

Pass Christian High School recently held a presentation kicking off an Adopt-A-School program. The program is a way for businesses, professionals, industries and community organizations to contribute directly to the education of Pass Christian High School students. This can be achieved by contributing time, personnel experiences or resources to the school.

The proposal for the Pass Christian Adopt-A-School program originated with representatives from the Pass Christian Area Chamber of Commerce and the Pass Christian Rotary Club. Working together with the school district administrator, guidelines and policy statements were developed.

Boy Scout employee found guilty of sexual offenses

BY D.C. HARVILL

A former Boy Scout camp employee was sentenced to a 20 year prison term Thursday after being convicted of committing sexual acts with a young male at a Boy Scout camp in Hancock County in July 1987.

The jury deliberated approximately two hours before returning the guilty verdict on Steve Allen Adams, 33, of Schriver, Louisiana, charged with one count of unnatural sexual acts and one count of sexual battery.

The crimes allegedly were committed on a 15-year-old junior counselor at Camp Salmen, a Boy Scout camp in northern Hancock County, where Adams was employed as a health officer.

Adams, taking the stand in his own defense, denied having committed the crimes.

Circuit Court Judge Kosta Vlahos sentenced Adams to two 10 year terms to run consecutively, for a total of 20 years.

The jurors learned, after returning the conviction, that Adams had previously been convicted on a homosexual charge in California.

Mrs. Gay Dees Walker has been named director of the Mississippi Coast Chorus of Sweet Adelines Inc. This international, educational organization promotes four-part harmony, barbershop style, for women. The local chorus meets each Thursday at 7 p.m. at Westminster Presbyterian Church in Gulfport.

Mrs. Walker is a native of Pascagoula where she studied music and voice, participating in the superior-rated "Choraliers" before graduating from Pascagoula High School. She attended Mississippi Gulf Coast Junior College and was enrolled in the Sweet Adelines' Director Certification program in 1987. Her experience as lead section leader and assistant director of Mississippi Coast's 22 member chorus has provided an excellent opportunity for growth and development.

Walker will attend the International Director's Seminar in Tulsa, Okla. in July. She is currently rehearsing Mississippi Coast Chorus for participation in the Region 23 competition in Birmingham, Ala. on April 8. The Mississippi Coast chorus is the only Sweet Adeline chapter in Mississippi.

The Sweet Adelines chorus is often the first to offer its talent for entertainment at civic events and charitable functions. In addition, a Sweet Adeline chorus promotes harmony among women, both vocally and spiritually. The chorus is the "workshop" where members receive their basic training in barbershop harmony while participating in their prime endeavor—singing.

Women who enjoy singing are encouraged to visit any regular Thursday rehearsal or call 388-8422 for more information.

Reflections

By Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

It had all the appearances of people in mourning: the pained, deep-lined faces, the catatonic stares, the clear facial statement that whatever good there had been was now dead and gone.

The young, vibrant faces looked out from ram-tough heads set on thick, powerful bull necks and extraordinary bodies. As the final, dismal moments ticked away, the TV cameras recorded the awful truth: The Los Angeles Rams had been humiliated—quite unexpectedly—by the Denver Broncos.

There is always something painful about watching the faces of a team which has gone down in defeat, even if that team represents the hated "enemy" whom you want to annihilate. The ecstasy of victory and the agony of defeat keep on replaying every day.

Locally, I got to view this agony firsthand in early December when the Minnesota Vikings sacked the New Orleans Saints more than the Goths would have in their heyday. It was fascinating to observe what a bereavement this seemed to be for the diehard fans.

After a game like that, you studiously turn off local radio and TV sports talk shows in order to avoid depressing post-mortems which have the morbid atmosphere of a real post-mortem.

How do we explain that kind, that measure and that depth of involvement in what is, after all, nothing but a game?

Just a game, huh? You could never sell that to the tens of thousands who eat, drink and breathe football during the week, then levitate on Sundays to the height of mystic contemplation.

You could never sell that to the frenetic hordes who roll victories around in their mouths like fine wine, and relive, re-experience each play until their ecstasy is complete. As reticent as they are in defeat, so garrulous are they in victory.

It is nothing but a silly, oval pigskin game, but it evidently means much more when you study the passions it provokes. Professional football is a great bonanza to a host city, but there is far more than civic pride or economics at stake here.

Bragging rights certainly play into the picture, as you hear people boasting or at least talking animatedly about what their team has done or can do to any of the other teams.

Much deeper than any of the above has to be the personal identification with the home team. This team represents the fans and all they stand for. Without spelling it out, and perhaps without admitting it to themselves, the fans find a vicarious expression of power, success and importance in the team with which they identify.

Those fans may be bummers at home, losers on the job, and also-rans in most, if not all, of their human relationships. But at the scene of the game, they are all gamers, winners, conquerors, and they can make decisions before the coaches do.

Sure, there are actually fans out there who are in it for the sheer joy of the game, but such purists are few and far between.

What intrigues me is the question whether the same fans who go bananas over sports are willing to get half as excited about Jesus.

Home teams definitely have a wholesome place in our life as do all of sports and recreation. However, we need beware of our human tendency to follow material winners who can give us a quick visual fix along simple, human ground rules.

All these material winners lapse and at times collapse, although following them can be fun and refreshment. Jesus alone is the Winner who never lapses at all, the One uniquely worth following. Our enthusiasm and excitement about this Winner should know no bounds.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

It seems about twice a year we hear about damages to cemetery plots in our area.

The damages occur not necessarily in the same cemetery, but at different ones throughout the county. The most recent case of vandalism was committed at the Turtleskin Cemetery in the Northwestern portion of our county.

Gates were ripped from hinges, headstones toppled, headstones broken, vases removed, vases broken and the damages go on.

It really takes one of a very low esteem to stoop so low as to disturb the resting places of the dead.

A person has to go through many things during a lifetime and it appears that one should not have to worry about problems after death, especially the possibility of some idiot vandalizing their grave site.

Some of the most upset people I have ever encountered are family members of those departed whose grave sites have been vandalized.

We know it is only a few with a warped brain who stoop to vandalizing grave sites, as the majority of our residents respect cemetery plots.

Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson said on Friday that his department is increasing patrols in the area of outlying cemeteries. His department is investigating the recent vandalism at the Turtleskin Cemetery.

If you have any information about the vandalism, give the sheriff's office a call at 467-5101.

One of The Sea Coast Echo's longtime friends Mrs. Joe Pilet reminded us that the month of February is National History Month.

Mrs. Pilet is a member of the Friendship Oak Chapter of the National Daughters of the American Revolution.

As many of you know, the National Society of Daughters of the American Revolution has been sponsoring National History Month every year since 1952.

Hancock County has contributed much of interest to our nation's history.

It was once a part of the Choctaw Nation and the Chickasaw Tribe also lived here.

Then in 1699 the area was discovered by the famous French explorer, Jean Baptiste Le Moyne.

The French flag flew over this soil until 1763 --- then the British, and finally in 1810 the United States took control.

Hancock was designated as a county December 14, 1812 and named for revolutionary patriot, John Hancock.

And today, Hancock County continues to play an important role in the United States history at the John C. Stennis Space Center.

Do not forget the annual Krewe of Nereids parade this afternoon beginning at 2 p.m.

Nereids will be followed by Eros and the Krewe of Hancock County and will travel East on U.S.-90 from the Choctaw Plaza Shopping Center to Katie's Kandy Shop and then West on 90 to Our Shopping Center.

This will be the 23rd parade by Nereids and has become a tradition in the City of Waveland.

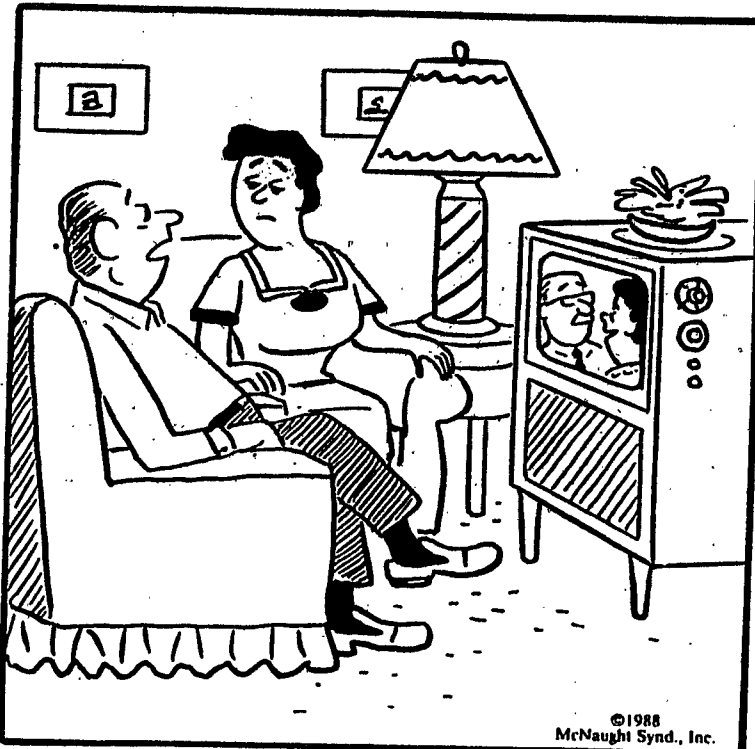

We hope to see you at the parade this afternoon.

While on the subject of parades, still to come are the Diamondhead Land and Sea Parades on next Saturday in addition to the Krewe of Kids in Cedar Point. Next Sunday will be the St. Paul's parade in Pass Christian and on Mardi Gras Day, the Krewe of Real People in Bay St. Louis.

Sheriff Ronald Peterson has been named the Grand Marshall for the Diamondhead Land Parade.

I know the sheriff will have a great time just as I did last year when I had the honor of serving as the parade's Grand Marshall.

We realize some of the residents of Diamondhead were not accustomed to Mardi Gras celebrations when they came to this area, but it didn't take them long to get into the swing of things.

"Let's do something different tonight— you sit here and I'll sit there."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Unsupervised pets cause harm to others

To the Editor:

Why do people think their dogs have the right to roam our beaches and streets without supervision?

These animals usually take away someone else's right to walk, or jog, or ride their bike safely and be unfraid in their neighborhood. Many tear through the neighbors' garbage on a weekly basis.

Last night our right to have our two-year-old pet rabbit in our yard was taken away because of two large dogs—one being the beautiful white dog we have admired on our beach and another large black dog.

Our cage was built 2 1/4 feet off the ground to keep our rabbits safe, but these dogs tore the wire off the cage. Our rabbit didn't have a chance at survival.

If pet owners would consider the rights of others it would make Bay St. Louis a little more enjoyable for all.

Hwy. 607, 90 intersection poses hazard to motorists

To the Editor:

We would like to draw the attention of the highway supervisor.

The curve coming northeast on old Hwy. 90 just before you approach Hwy. 607/90 interchange is very dangerous.

Many serious accidents and fatalities have occurred. Just within this week alone, two serious accidents have taken place.

Many concerned citizens feel that this needs immediate attention. Many of our loved ones travel this road on a regular basis. We have gathered together and discussed this issue.

We feel that a drastic reduction in speed, speed bumps, and flashing lights (for the dense fog) are in order.

Please, please, for the lives of our loved ones, take this matter serious, and act on it.

Thank you,

Industry drains our most precious resource—water

To the Editor:

"Water, water everywhere but not a drop to drink"...a phrase written long ago which could become a reality in just a few years.

Evidently our eminent state leaders could care less if we're forced to spend millions on water treatment plants as industry continues to drain our most precious natural resource—water.

To guard against future tax increases on individuals and ever higher water bills, I appeared before the Hancock Board of Supervisors and proposed a new tax: a Severance Tax on every business and/or industry which uses more than 1,000 gallons of ground water a day.

The monies collected by this tax must be put in a Trust Fund dedicated to building water treatment plants as needed. If Hancock and Harrison jointly put a severance tax on the books of just 1 Mil per gallon in less than five years interest alone would amount to over $1,000,000 per year.

This interest could be siphoned off and used to defray ever rising costs of schools or police and fire departments.

Mostly, such action would guarantee our children supplies of potable water minus the burden of future bond issues.

If you wish to protect your future and believe this idea has merit, please let your County Supervisor know.

Regard,
Royce P. Kaupp

Tort reform necessary for economic growth

Over 300 business men and women 'marched' on the state Capitol last week in order to express to legislators their growing concern over the lack of civil justice reforms in this state.

Many in the business community feel that Mississippi's civil justice, or tort, laws are outdated and are now working against the advancement of the state. With liability exposure so great, innovative projects and future investments are being put on hold or opting to go outside the state.

Mississippi is competing against states that have recently enacted tort reforms. These states are sending a signal that businesses no longer have to rely on a tort system that has been unfair.

Mississippi could send this signal as well, if the 1989 Legislature would simply enact meaningful tort reforms, which survey after survey has shown is a growing concern for businesses all over the state.

The 'march' demonstrated just how concerned the business community is over this issue, and hopefully legislators will respond to this concern.

By Governor Ray Mabus

Mabus proposes largest increase to Medicaid funding

Medicaid was started by the federal government 25 years ago, and since then it has become the single largest source of financing for medical care of the poor in the nation.

That makes it doubly important in Mississippi, where we have more than our share of needy people. In Mississippi and every other state in the nation, Medicaid has been cited as a major factor in giving the poor access to health care.

That is why I have proposed the largest single increase in Medicaid funding in the history of our state.

The $24 million increase in state money going to Medicaid will automatically earn an additional $96 million. And, every penny of that $120 million will go to help the poor.

All in all, we are talking about providing Medicaid coverage to an additional 33,000 aged, blind and disabled Mississippians if the Mississippi Legislature approves this proposal.

This proposal comes at a time when more than 30 rural hospitals in Mississippi are struggling financially—often under the strain of caring for the poor without any payment from patients, Medicaid or private insurance.

Even if this proposal is approved, many poor Mississippians from border to border still will not have any medical coverage.

Like many of our problems, a lack of decent medical care for the poor did not develop overnight. And, the solutions also will not come overnight.

This proposal, however, is a giant step forward because it would represent a major commitment to quality of care for all Mississippians.

Part of the proposal to expand Medicaid involves redirecting about $7 million going to three charity hospitals in Meridian, Laurel and Vicksburg.

Why has this been proposed, if helping poor people is the goal?

First, the federal government will automatically give Mississippi another $28 million to help poor people if that charity hospital money is redirected to Medicaid.

Secondly, use of the charity hospitals has declined dramatically over the years. Only 27.3 percent of the state's charity hospital beds were being used on the average day last fiscal year. That's 67 beds out of a total of 245 beds.

More than 40 percent of all inpatient admissions to charity hospitals last year were for births and newborn nursery care. Now, however, virtually any pregnant woman in the state of Mississippi should be free to deliver her baby wherever she chooses.

Thanks to the Mississippi Legislature, beginning in October 1988, pregnant women and infants in families with an income of up to 185 percent of the federal poverty level is covered by Medicaid. That would include, for example, a family of four with an income of $21,000.

Finally—and most importantly—it is time that Mississippi move toward a single standard of health care for everyone. Where a person lives, or the size of their pocketbook, should not determine the kind of care they receive.

We should no longer accept a double standard in health care than we would for education or anything else. A single standard of health care is a goal worth striving for, and this proposal is a solid start.

FAVOR RETURNED—While Principal Adrian Swanier and Superintendent of Education Leroy Lizana watch, Dr. C.D. Taylor of Pass Christian signs an Adopt-A-School contract during a ceremony at Pass Christian High School this week. The program allows individuals, businesses, industries and community organizations to make a contribution to education. "They adopted me in 1939, the least I can do is adopt them now," Taylor said. Seat belt legislation urged by Miss. coalition

For the fourth year in a row, the Mississippi Seat Belt Coalition (MSBC) is gathering forces across the state to urge legislators to pass a law requiring safety-belt use in Mississippi.

Last year, the bill was passed out of the Senate but failed by two votes in the House Transportation Committee.

This year, the theme of the legislative drive will be "Time is Running Out."

This is based on the fact that Mississippi has been currently ranked for the second year in a row as the second most dangerous state in the nation because of our high fatality rate per miles driven.

"This fact coupled with Mississippi's safety-belt usage rate, which is the lowest in the nation at 16 percent, presents the legislators with an overwhelming duty to create legislation to ease Mississippi's tragic national positions," said Diane Taylor, executive director of the Mississippi Seat Belt Coalition Inc.

Thirty-two states are now covered by safety-belt use laws and the national usage rate is 45 percent. Tennessee and Louisiana are two bordering states that have had belt laws on the books for more than two years.

"Ninety-five percent of the drivers killed in Mississippi in 1987 were not wearing safety-belts," said Taylor. "We are losing too many good citizens to the battle on the highways and time is running out for future accident victims. The taxpayers are suffering physically, emotionally, and economically over the failure of responsible government in this area," added Taylor.

House Bill No. 171 will be considered initially by the House or Representatives during the 1989 session.

County Forester

Free trees to be available

It will be hard to top the all-county participation of Mississippians during Tree Planting Week events this past year, but sponsors of the Magnolia State's annual 'Celebration of Trees' say they'll be trying. Once again this year the Hancock County Soil and Water Conservation District and the Mississippi Forestry Commission will be giving away free hardwood trees on Feb. 8 and 9. Trees will be available at the Soil Conservation Service office from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Hwy. 603 and from 8 a.m. until noon at the Mississippi Forestry Commission located on Dunbar Avenue, both days.

Green ash, cypress, sycamore, autumn olive and persimmon are the variety of trees which will be available.

Because of the large demand experienced every year, please limit three trees per household. At the recent annual planning meeting of the State Tree Planting and Forest Development Committee dates for Tree Planting Week-1989 were announced as Feb. 10-17.

It has become customary during the 13-year history of the event to start the ceremonial week of tree planting on Arbor Day (always the second Friday in February).

Gale Martin, executive director of the Mississippi Association of Conservation District (MACD), primary sponsoring agency, said the local Soil and Water Conservation District, Mississippi Forestry Commission, U.S. Forest Service, Garden Clubs of Mississippi, U.S. Soil Conservation Service, various forest industries and many other cooperating community businesses, civic groups and schools, will again be involved in all 82 counties.

Your financial future can begin today.

Head-Carter

First Baptist Church in Bay St. Louis was the setting for the December 17 marriage of Jennifer Stacy Carter and Jerry Dewayne Head. The Reverend Nathan Barber officiated at the double ring evening ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John N. Carter of Bay St. Louis. The groom's parents are Peggy Head of Bay St. Louis and Dempsey Head of Poplarville.

Candelabra decorated with greenery and red velvet bows lined the aisles. A tall Christmas tree was adorned with baby's breath, white lights and velvet and plaid bows. Brass candelabra and poinsettias completed the decorations in the baptistry.

Nuptial music was presented by organist Gail Carr of Bay St. Louis and soloist Ward Weaver of Tampa, Fla., uncle of the bride.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white satin with sweetheart neckline outlined with venise lace encrusted with seed pearls and iridescent sequins on a fitted basque bodice. Juliet puffed sleeves tapered to the wrists and strings of pearls draped across the deep V-back. The full skirt was bordered with pearly scalloped lace and featured a cathedral train attached at the back waist with a satin bow with cascading satin loops. Elaborate clipped and scalloped laces trimming the train were enhanced with sequins and pearls.

She wore a V-shaped headpiece with side sprays of pearls and an illusion pouf with waist length veil.

The bride carried a cascade of white silk orchids, freesia and pearl sprays accented with holly and English ivy with iridescent ribbon loops and streamers.

Stephanie Johnson and Karen Ladner of Bay St. Louis were matron and maid of honor, respectively.

Bridesmaids were Kendra Carter of Apison, Tenn., cousin of the bride; Carol Ann Estes of Knoxville, Tenn.; Christy Carter, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mary Ladner, both of Bay St. Louis; and Bridget Wise of Picayune.

Ginger Felder of Waveland was junior bridesmaid and Kacie Harris of Harrisville, Miss., was flower girl.

The attendants were identically attired in red velvet gowns, each with dropped V-waist, ruffled sleeves and low, square back with bow accent at the waist.

They carried white marabou muffs decorated with holly berries and leaves, sparkle baby's breath, white iridescent and red velvet ribbons.

Jimmy Head of Bay St. Louis served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Scott Favre, Jordan Bradford, Dennis Rhodes, and Ken Moore, all of Bay St. Louis; and David Riney of Oxford.

Darren Babin of Alexandria, La., was junior groomsman.

Ushers were Geja Carter of Bay St. Louis and Shane Babin of Alexandria, cousin of the groom.

Zachary Baker of Apison,

Tex., cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

Mrs. Carter chose for her daughter's wedding a teal green dress with dropped waistline accented with pearls and beading at the hip. The groom's mother was attired in a formal gown of mauve georgette, featuring a cascading panel secured by a jeweled motif at the shoulder.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Diamondhead Community Center.

On return from a wedding trip to Acapulco, Mex., the couple resides in Bay St. Louis.

American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139

On Thursday, Jan. 5, the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139 sponsored a sing-a-long at the Hotel Reed Nursing and Retirement home for the residents.

Mrs. Lena Mae Oustalet played the piano while Mrs. Oris Planchard went among the residents to encourage them to participate in the activity. The residents enjoy the psalms as well as the 'oldies but goodies.'

On Thursday, Jan. 26, Unit 139 hosted a birthday party for the residents of Hotel Reed Nursing and Retirement home for those who celebrated their birthdays during the month.

Mrs. Lena Mae Oustalet played the piano while Mrs. Oris Planchard handed out the gifts. Refreshments were served and a good time was had by all. Mrs. Roslyn Weathers is expecting to return to these activities as soon as the doctors give her permission, which shouldn't be too long.

February proclaimed 'National History Month'

By Joe Pilet, Scribe
Friendship Oak Chapter
N.S.D.A.R.

The month of February has been officially proclaimed National History Month. The mayors of our twin cities, Bay St. Louis and Waveland and the president of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors have officially signed and processed for publication a proclamation calling upon our citizenry to observe and stress the importance of National History Month.

Explaining the origin of National History Month, Mrs. James R. Thomas, regent of the Friendship Oak Chapter, National Society Daughters of the American Revolution, said: "The National Society Daughters of the American Revolution sponsors this event. It all started in 1952 when Mrs. William H. Noel, the then Kentuckstate chairman of Americanism, asked Kentucky Governor Lawrence W. Wetherly to issue a proclamation making February of each year National History Month."

The movement grew in popularity as the birth dates of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln were observed. Educational institutes and various public and patriotic organizations stressed the importance of keeping our national history alive at all levels "from the cradle to the grave." In observance of the event educational tours are suggested as well as essay contests and educational programs.

Prima Wusnack, director of the City-County Library said: "Our state and our county have contributed substantially to our national history. We have a shelf devoted to Mississippi history and have prepared a list of books available for use of those who wish to approach our national history from a local and state level." She added the facility was planning a display exhibit to further call attention to the event.

Bay St. Louis' mayor, Victor Franckiewicz Jr. and Waveland's mayor, John Longo Jr., together with the president of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors expressed the feeling that the American flag should be hoisted each day as a symbol of our community's very real appreciation of our heritage.

Mrs. William P. Hilliker, program chairman for the Hancock County Historical Society said, "Our group will schedule a program on the DAR's history and its importance in our nation's history."

ON ETV

'American Playhouse, public television's weekly drama anthology series, begins its eighth season with a new three-hour adaptation of Lorraine Hansberry's classic drama about race relations in America, 'A Raisin in the Sun,' featuring Danny Glover and Esther Rolle. This powerful family drama airs Wednesday, Feb. 1 at 8 p.m. on Mississippi ETV.

The program, which kicks off PBS's 'Black History Month,' is the most complete production of the play ever staged, including scenes and passages cut from the original Broadway production. Set in Chicago after World War II, it is the drama of a black American family torn between a mother's pursuit of the middle-class dream and the anger and desire for change felt by her son.
